The Kite Runner, by Khaled Hosseini

The unforgettable, heartbreaking story of the unlikely friendship between a wealthy boy and the son of his father's servant, The Kite Runner is a beautifully crafted novel set in a country that is in the process of being destroyed. It is about the power of reading, the price of betrayal, and the possibility of redemption; and an exploration of the power of fathers over sons—their love, their sacrifices, their lies.

A sweeping story of family, love, and friendship told against the devastating backdrop of the history of Afghanistan over the last thirty years.

Written Response For The Kite Runner:

Write about the following prompt concerning the topic of education, using the text as evidence, as well as personal experience. One page typed and shared in google docs to hansenb@cpsboe.k12.oh.us

Baba believes it's possible to confuse school with education. In his opinion, being educated involves more than what teachers, especially the teachers at Amir's school, tell students. To some people, this may be true, but others may have a different view. What does it mean to be truly "educated"? Does education mean only that one can recite historical dates or scenes from Shakespeare? Can someone who has traveled the world and has had a wide variety of life experiences be considered educated, even if he or she has never attended school?

Materials needed for the first day of school:

- 1 pocket folder for AP LIT
- 1 pocket folder for College Applications
- 1 pack of white lined 4x6 notecards
- 1 pack of lined college ruled paper
- 1 container of clorox wipes/kleenex
